Call for Papers: Goizueta Business School Paper Series

About the Paper Series

The Goizueta Business School Papers Series archive contains working papers, in-press or pre-prints authored by Goizueta Business School faculty, Ph.D. students and their affiliates. Your contribution of working papers or in-press publications will enable the school to create a superior resource that will enable the promotion of our scholarship among our peers and other academic institutions.

Frequently Asked Questions

Where are the papers located on the web?

The works are located at <http://gbspapers.library.emory.edu>. There is also a link to the Paper Series database on the library's homepage: <http://business.library.emory.edu>.

How do I submit my papers?

Send your papers to the Working Papers conference in FirstClass.

Why should I submit my work to the GBS paper series?

This is a unique opportunity to publicize your work, as well as an easy method of preserving your work for the future.

Can I restrict access to my work?

You can indicate your preferences for access to your work when you submit your paper, or create a standing preference with us by completing the enclosed form. For example, we can enter the abstract only along with your contact information, or provide the full text of your paper.

Reminder - even if you choose not to permit public access to your work, we would like to have a copy to add to our archive to preserve your work for the future.

What if I have already submitted to another repository?

We can link to the site where you have submitted your work (ex. SSRN) or we can duplicate the content in our archive. Please check with your publisher for their policy regarding online copyright restrictions.

What about copyright restrictions?

Please check with your publisher about contributing to online archiving or consult this URL: <http://www.sherpa.ac.uk/romeo.php>.

What formats are accepted for submission?

We accept any format, such as Microsoft Word and PDF. We can also link to content housed on other sites.
