

Passport (Euromonitor): How to Access Statistics

In addition to reports and market commentary this database includes industry, trade, economic, market and consumer data for countries and regions around the world. Here is an example of how to search for this data.

1. Get to Passport at – <http://business.library.emory.edu/research-learning/databases/passport.php>
2. At the Passport home page, click GO next to Categories and Topics.

2. You can now begin selecting the data points (e.g. categories) and geographies for your customized spreadsheet.

Search Full Tree: Categories and Topics

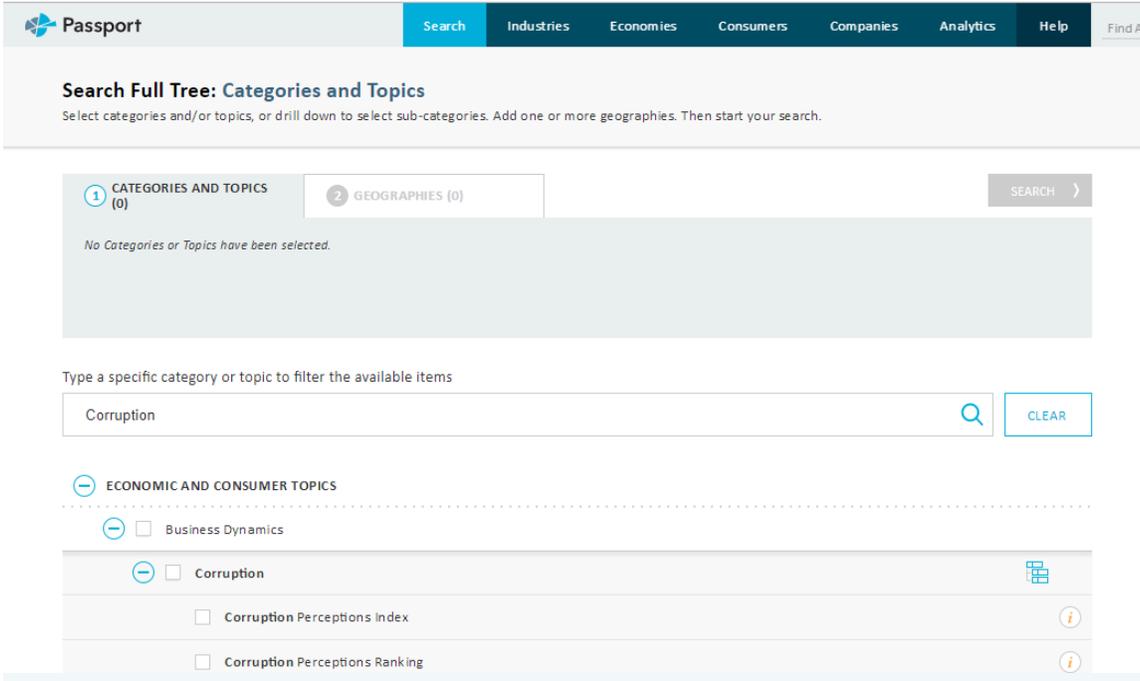

Select categories and/or topics, or drill down to select sub-categories. Add one or more geographies. Then start your search.

3. The Categories/Topics include Industries and Economics & Consumers.

- Take time to browse and scroll down and expand (+) the categories to view all the data that is available.

- Notice the  icon to the far right of some categories; clicking on this will automatically select all of the subcategories related to its broader category.
- You can also keyword search to locate all matching keywords across all of the categories.
 - TIP: We recommend combining keyword searching and browsing to ensure you do not miss useful data.
